2 TRAINING EXPLANATION

Students of the SES Training learn to perform tunnel ventilation analysis by creating models and using the Subway Environment Simulation (SES) computer program.

SES is a one-dimensional aerodynamic and thermodynamic solver for tunnels, transit, and underground environments (see Figure 1).

By completing this training, Students become SES technicians who can analyze real-world projects. SES Technicians can document model creation, simulate tunnel environments, and post-process results, see Figure 2.
